

Tinley Garden Club Wins Coveted Blue Ribbon At Chicago Flower Show

Members of the Tinley Park Garden Club are all puffed up over the fact that out of the six exhibits they entered, three won ribbons at the Third Annual Chicago Garden and Flower Show which opened at the Sherman Hotel, Monday, Feb. 25 and will continue thru until Sunday, March 3rd.

The Thornapple Blossoms in the arrangement exhibit received a blue ribbon. The committee in charge is Mrs. Chas. Nielsen, chairman; Mrs. Henry Vogt and Mrs. Henry Kehres.

The window box exhibit received a white ribbon and the committee in charge is Mrs. Edmund Moss, chairman, assisted by Mrs. J. Swisher and Mrs. Lulu Rogers.

The Conservation Poster also received a white ribbon. The committee on this entry is Mrs. Fred Goebel, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harry Mager and Mrs. John Boeyer.

The Tinley Park Garden Club has the real flower lovers spirit and these three ribbon prizes are proof of their skill in the art of gardening, especially when taking into consideration that garden clubs of much longer standing and considerable more wealth were competing in the same exhibits.

Another Horse Sale

Henry F. Yunker of Mokena is selling a carload of western horses at the Peotone Fair grounds Saturday of this week. Mr. Yunker has had good success with his horse sales this summer. In spite of tractors there is a good demand for horses.

Tinley Lions Have "Ladies Night"

The Tinley Lions have accomplished many great things since they have organized, but "Ladies Night" was one of the biggest things yet put over. This all happened on St. Valentine's night, Feb. 14.

The Lions, some weeks ago, decided they would invite their wives to one of their regular meetings. St. Valentine's night was decided upon, but instead of having a regular meeting they prepared a program and served a supper. The program was well prepared and very funny. Instead of a serious meeting as the "roaring Lions" always have [Oh, yeh!] they had a "phony" program. By the word "phony" is meant something they said was funny and a stretch of the imagination or in other words they were Baron Munchausen stories.

Things got under way at 7:45 p. m. John C. Andres, our man of "sense and dollars" was first of the Lions to "roar". Everybody faced the flag and sang that popular song "America" and after singing a second song everybody fed their most starved faces.

During the course of the meal "Tail Twister" R. J. Hug warned his brother Lions that if they did not address each other with the word "Lion" before their name such as "Lion Hick", they would be fined a dime. It is needless to say that many dimes were added to the Lions treasury.

To make things clearer it would be better to describe things a bit. Two long tables were at each side of the Community Hall. The Lions and their wives sat there. On the stage was a table for the officers. At the opposite end was a table with four of the Lions sons. At each of the long tables there were toast masters. They were: Robert Rooker and Clyde Rice.

The hall was decorated with hearts and everything pertaining to Valentine's day. The waitresses were also "decorated" and helped the Lions greatly by serving the courses promptly.

Now to go on with the meal. Well, along about the middle of the dinner toastmaster Clyde Rice nobly arose and deliberately "insulted" the four Lions sons or the "distinguished guests" by saying "The Four Horsemen" will please make less noise, as this was not a kids party. Of course "The Four Horsemen" was quite a novelty, as well as a compliment, but the rest—well were not all angels. Do not take this too seriously. The "Four Horsemen" wish to have the Lions explain, "since when is Lions meat so tender?"

The next funny coincidence was the singing of "There Ain't No Wives on Us" by two single Lions and the "Four Horsemen" who have not as yet "hitched up".

At this point of the program, things grew serious for a moment as the Lion President, H. C. Vogt gave a talk on "Lionism". Mrs. W. B. Combs, Sr., talked in behalf of the ladies, praising and thanking the Lions for their deeds.

The "Tail Twister" R. J. Hug, then presented Mayor Wm. Funk with a silver duck in behalf of his many "wild" duck hunts.

The "roll call" came in for a great deal of fun. As each Lions name was called he had to tell his occupation such as R. J. Hug president of "Hugme Tight Radio Corporation"; Fred Hick, "Butcher of Tigers, Lions, etc."; J. F. Boeyer, "Dealer in Second-hand Underwear." Another feature was the singing of "Carolina Moon" and "Dream Train", two popular songs by Ruth Funk and Dorothy Goebel.

Again the meeting became "phony" when J. F. Boeyer suggested a swimming pool be built on Vogt's Department Store, no suits would be necessary and it would be for ladies only, but due to the young ladies taking up aviation it was advisable not too.

Robert Rooker Tinley's Hoosier Lion then read off the name of each Lion with a phrase such as Clyde Rice or "Potato" Rice and J. C. Andres should go into the perfume business as he knows his scents. The evening closed with the passing out of Valentines and the presenting of silver horseshoes to two officers H. C. Vogt and Fred Goebel.

Many songs were sung during the evening. Everything was perfect, showing the Lions had prepared much before hand. These Lions when they roar, they roar.

The Town Doctor

SAYS

Is there anyone who thinks that it isn't a good idea to make the town in which he lives just a little more attractive, a little more interesting, a little bit larger, and a little better?

But, if a man came into your town a stranger and said to any 20 people on the street, or in the stores "This looks like a pretty good town here," what percentage of the replies do you suppose would be FOR the town?

If he were to put the question to YOU, what would YOU say?

If you were working in a store and a customer said, "This looks like a pretty good store," and you answered, "Oh, yes, it's all right if you like it," or "Well, it used to be all right," the boss would no doubt fire you; if he didn't, he should! If you answered a customer's inquiry "What kind of a store is this?" with "slow", "dead, terrible", or any of those unprintable descriptions that you and I and everyone have heard people say about their town, you would be classed as a blithering idiot, mutton-headed numbskull, and a loony nincompoop—and who wants to be that?

Maybe you have never thought of it that way. Well, one can't think of everything, but here is something every resident of every city must think about sooner or later, and for your own personal betterment it had better be sooner.

Start thinking about your community as a business—Look at it just as if it were a store business—a business of which YOU are a part. Put out of your head the old-fashioned

Will Test Party Regularity

BY JOHN T. CLYNE
That party regularity is due for a test in the coming Joliet Republican Township Convention is certain. Flushed and elated over the victory in the last General Election, there is a disposition on the part of those who call themselves "Regular Organization" to discipline the Bolsheviks who deserted the party four years ago.

The terms of the present Justices of the Peace in Joliet will expire this Spring, and there is every indication that with the exception of one or possibly two, new faces will appear in the picture after the convention. There is evidence of opposition to supervisors thruout the County who favored the method of handling the sale of the $1,750,000 County Bonds, and this, in all probability, will result in a change in the personnel of the members of the Board. The Democrats are organizing in Joliet and intend to make the bond issue one of the issues in the campaign. It is conceded, however, that the Republicans, however disgruntled they may be will hesitate before lining up with a ticket labeled "Democrat". There is a contingent favoring a citizens movement, but this, under the present conditions, is considered difficult if not impossible.

There is also developing opposition to the present method of handling the collections of City Taxes in the various institutions subject to licenses or city permits.

Harry Mall Enters Mayoralty Race

The spring political pot is already beginning to simmer and will soon be boiling. At Mokena there will be a full ticket in the field. A mayor, 3 aldermen and a police magistrate are to be elected.

Harry Mall, Mokena lumber dealer has entered the mayoralty race and has announced his candidacy for the office of mayor of Mokena on the Village Party ticket.

George J. Hacker, the present mayor who has held the office for many years, has withdrawn from local politics. Rumor also has it that One E.

ioned idea of your town being something that just happened—something that you can't get hold of—an intangible thing so big that whatever you do as an individual won't make any difference one way or the other.

You don't have to be mayor, president of a civic club, head of a bank or a store to be important; your vote counts just as much as that of any banker, doctor, lawyer, merchant, or city official, and it's the attitude YOU take toward your community—the things YOU do for or against it—that makes it alive or dead, good or bad, forging ahead or standing still.

When industry considers your town, it is the people they want to know about, not just the few shining lights—the big boys alone—and have their men study. It's YOU they "feel out," often without you knowing it, and on YOU, your attitude, how you look at, act toward, and talk about your community, depends on whether their report is favorable for a new factory, distributing point headquarters for representatives, or for whatever they are considering your town.

As a citizen you are a salesperson for your community the same as a clerk is a salesperson of a store; the merchants, bankers and professional people are the same as department store heads of a store, and the policemen of your community are the floorwalkers.

It's always up to the sales force of any business. Your town is a business—your business—and just the same it's up to you.

How to Construct Model Planes

BY CARLOS HALL

There are many styles of motor sticks including the solid balsa, I beams, U beams, built up with two sides, box type, etc. Each has certain advantages but the ordinary solid balsa is by far the simpler while being very efficient.

The motor stick is the most important part of the model, although equal care must be taken with the wings and "prop".

A well made motor stick should be just heavy enough to bend slightly with the motor wound full and still not light enough so that a slight bump will crack it. The elevator and rudder should be securely fastened to the rear of the motor stick with embroidery. It is advisable to make some sort of adjustable rudder.

An egg beater winder is a necessity to a contest model as by stretching the rubber out to three or four times its length it greatly increases the number of turns possible.

The rear hook on the stick should not be over half an inch long and only long enough to take the S hook which is connected to the rubber.

In an R. O. G. model the landing gear should be as light as possible. The best is an A frame of bamboo with the apex ambroided to the motor stick about one inch from the nose. At the ends can be ambroided L shape pieces of wire to serve as shafts for the wheels. This frame can be braced with a cross piece to form a real letter A.

The thrust bearing is a small brad flattened out and a No. 72 hole drilled in it or a phonograph needle may be used to drive a small hole thru one end just large enough to take the propeller shaft. When the bearing is finished, it is ambroided to the front of the motor stick.

Miss Edith Wilson Weds W. Sayers

Miss Edith Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wilson and Willard Sayers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sayers, all of New Lenox, were united in marriage in the New Lenox Methodist parsonage Wednesday evening, February 20th at 8 p. m. the Rev. Mr. Ream, pastor of the church officiating. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sievert of New Lenox.

The bride was becomingly attired in blue and tan silk crepe with hat and accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayers left for a short wedding trip to Champaign, Ill., where they visited with the latter's sister, and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Plumer. They returned Sunday and will make their home with the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson expect to return to the farm south of New Lenox about April 1st.

McGovey, local real estate man, may also be run as a candidate for mayor.

Judge John F. Schultz, present police magistrate, has announced himself a candidate for re-election to this office on the Village Party ticket. Just how fight will be waged remains to be seen. It is understood a few private meetings have been held to lay plans for framing a ticket and for carrying on the campaign.

NEWS-BULLETIN HAS IMPORTANT PART IN ORLAND P. T. A. SHOW TO BE PRESENTED MARCH 5

Final rehearsals for the much talked of play to be given by the members of the Orland P. T. A. are in progress and it is expected that when the curtain rises next Tuesday evening, March 5th, that the audience will be treated to an evening of real fun.

The play "Al. Martin's Country Store" is a take-off on the old time country store of by gone days. The ladies have been busy digging up old style costumes and hats and the men have been cultivating the rural drawl of the old time farmer. The action takes one back to the days of 1900 with the village store as the center of all things worth while in the rural life. There will be the "Postmaster" and his beautiful daughter, the hero, the villain, the city visitor, the town gossips and the town loafers, all helping settle all the affairs of the universe just as in days of yore. Even the "News-Bulletin" plays an important part in the show.

Dr. S. S. Knox is cast for the role of Al. Martin, the postmaster and store keeper. Ike Cleveland for the hero, Harry Heiting for the villain, Jack Schmaedeke for the "Squire", Earl Holt for the schoolmaster, Rev. Paul Sanders for the parson and

Pete Wagner for the city railway promoter. Len Kay and Louis Arnold, Jr., will pull off a horse trading deal that will be reminiscent of old times. Jim Creer, Orville Schmaedeke, George Cox and Jimmy Davidson will settle the cracker eating and checker playing championship in the most approved style. Earl Reich and Mrs. Lillian Knox will furnish the real comedy stunts. Mrs. Tom Davidson, Mrs. Mollie Reich, Mrs. Louis Arnold and Mrs. George Cox will show just how fast the village gossips tongues can wag. Isabell Wagner will portray the part of the storekeepers daughter and will be aided and abetted by Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Campbell a "Flapper of the 1900 vintage."

There will be love, there will be laughs, and there will be tears. The villain will be foiled and the "lovers will live happy ever after."

This being the first attempt of the association at any thing of this kind, it is not promised or expected that the audience will be shown any Mansfields or Julia Marlowes but the association does promise that everyone who attends the performance Tuesday evening March 5th will get their full measure of fun and of enjoyment.

Frozen Pipe Ties Up Gas Service

Quite a few Mokena people who did not have a reserve oil or cook stove on hand, had to go without a hot breakfast Tuesday morning as the result of the gas service being interrupted due to a frozen gas pipe three miles east of Mokena.

The Public Service had their trouble men on the job promptly and succeeded in restoring the gas service late in the afternoon. Being deprived of the convenience of gas for a few hours made many persons wonder how they ever got along without it before. One realizes the worth of these modern conveniences when one is deprived of their use for a few hours.

MISS GOETZ ILL.

Miss Clara Goetz, seventh and eighth grade teacher, was taken ill during the week end with influenza.

Miss Goetz was the last of the teachers to miss school this year because of illness. Mr. Lively, principal and teacher of the High school, and Mrs. Ferguson, teacher of the intermediate room, were ill before Christmas. Miss Bronson, teacher of the primary room, was ill shortly after Christmas.

Miss Goetz's room did not have school Monday. Tuesday morning she was back to school, however, sufficiently recovered to resume her duties.

STUDENT S PLEA FOR HELP

We appreciate what the school board has done to establish a good library in the public school. The books we have are of the old style. We would like the modern everyday books. Love and frontier stories are seldom read. Western, detective and mystery stories are read mostly.

It was suggested by Miss Goetz at the P. T. A. meeting and accepted that a committee be appointed to gather books from the homes of Mokena people. This committee has so far made no report that they have done anything about the matter and the students wish the committee to take up the matter at an early date.

The pupils should get together and organize a club to give a play with which to raise funds toward securing books.

SPRING BRINGS HAPPINESS TO CHILDREN

The warm weather which has at last come brings happiness for all the children. All the children of the Mokena school have been out at recess and noons playing games the last few days.

The good weather makes a difference in the attitude of the children toward each other, and toward school in general. Bad weather makes people have grouches and unfriendly ways. We at school hope that this warm weather of the last few days remains. Another week like the past and we can get out of doors for a little "spring training."

SAME PRESCRIPTION
HE WROTE IN 1892

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as today. People lived normal lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe bowel stimulant.

This prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative. It has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulency, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds, fevers. What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria. Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

A Romance of Braddock's Defeat

Beaujeu, quick to utilize any superstition that favored his growing plans for resisting Braddock's approach, stood up and sonorously replied:

"Pontiac, great chief of the Ottawas, your words make Onontio's heart warm and glad. With the mighty Pontiac to lead our red brothers, the medicine lodge ghosts will tell but one thing—that an ax, half-red and half-French, will split the English head. Let the brave Potawatomi set up the medicine lodge where we may see it and bear its voices. Let the ghosts of ancient warriors tell us how to destroy the English and take for our own use their long wagons of guns and cloth and food. Tell your red brothers that Onontio will send them a keg of brandy to make their hearts glad."

Pontiac turned and stalked from the room, a dramatic figure. Beaujeu smiled grimly and, still staring through the open door, he said to us:

"Messieurs, there speaks one who some day will make great trouble for some one. Whoever holds that man fast to France does France and our king a great service. Now while they are putting up their lodge let us eat and talk."

I had renewed acquaintance with the three officers before entering the room and had been made known to the fourth man, Sieur de St. Therese, a pleasant-mannered fellow. Platters of steaming meat and some good bread were served.

Outside the window rose the guttural voices of the Potawatomi wizards as they directed the erection of the mystery lodge. Soon there was added the fierce notes of a war-song as the brandy began to take effect; and by the light of several fires we could glimpse stark forms dancing madly around a war-post, each dancer pausing to drive his ax into the wood in pantomime of braining a foe. For a background was the heat-lightning and the far-off bellowing of Hinunn the Thunder-god, giving battle to his immortal enemy, the water-serpent. Beaujeu watched the frenzied warriors for a moment and sighed:

"If I could hold them to that pitch when I lead them to battle. But messieurs, now that we have satisfied our appetites, I will ask Monsieur Beland to tell us about the hostility of the woman Allaquipa toward us. Then you can decide if her village at the mouth of the Youghiogeny is a menace to France. Lieutenant Beauvais already has told us something, but Monsieur Beland was in the village longer than Beauvais and had a most significant experience."

So, for the second time since entering the fort, I recounted the woman sachem's refusal of the French belt and the killing of Pontiac's belt-carrier. When I had ceased speaking Sieur de St. Therese excitedly cried:

"It is time that evil nest was destroyed."

Beaujeu's eyes sparkled.

"What does Sieur de Carqueville say?" he asked.

De Carqueville promptly replied:

"We are in extremis without Braddock finding a resting place should his line of march take him to the mouth of the Youghiogeny. The country ahead of his army should be swept clean of English allies."

De la Parade lifted a glass of wine and gave:

"Death to the English Indians! Death to Allaquipa!"

After the toast had been drunk Sieur de Parieux counseled:

"It would be best, I believe, to send the Ottawas, or the Ojibways, to remove the village."

Beaujeu considered this suggestion thoughtfully for a few moments, and then turned to me and invited:

"Let us have Monsieur Beland's advice."

I told them:

"It is my belief that at the worst she will only succeed in holding her Indians neutral. Their numbers are few. When they find there is but a small force of Indians with the English army, they will not dare to join it. If you send the northern Indians against the village you may make our Shawnees and Mingoes uneasy. It may spoil their fighting spirit. Certainly your Delawares would not relish doing the work, for after all they are of the same race."

"Eh!" muttered Beaujeu, cugging at his long hair and frowning at his glass. Finally he threw up his head and said:

"Our brother speaks with wisdom, although it sounds like the cold calculating counsel of an Englishman. But it is true, messieurs, that many of the Indians do not care whether the dog eats the wolf, or the wolf eats the dog. We cannot risk a split in our red ranks. If the Shawnees steal away to the Muskingum and Graves' creek, then we may expect to behold the lake tribes leaving for the north without lifting an ax. I am forced to believe it will be better to leave Allaquipa's town alone.

"If Our Lady's intercession should give us a victory over Braddock, the task of pacifying the English Leni-Lenape will be easier if there be no bones of their warriors for France to cover. If it is fated that we lose, we shall have our hands full in withdrawing from this fort without having to fight a rear-guard engagement against infuriated neutrals. For I solemnly assure you, messieurs, that our own savages will be a problem should we have to retire."

"Monsieur Beland, I rejoice that you are here and have spoken as you have. I only wish that Monsieur Beauvais could join us and give his views. He is a cool thoughtful man, and, like yourself, would speak without prejudice."

It required several rounds of wine to restore us to a proper enthusiasm. I felt a coolness on the part of my two neighbors, although none at the table openly disagreed with Beaujeu's decision. But de la Parade, who had drunk extermination to the village, was vastly more popular than I. Beaujeu's mention of Beauvais made my back feel chilly, and my gaze wandered frequently toward the open door. And yet when I attempted to decide just what I should do, did he put in an appearance, my mind refused to work. It was as if my intelligence were paralyzed. I was keenly conscious of dreading his arrival but was incapable of planning a defense.

There was a wild wish in my heart that the Onondaga might discover the truth and manage in some fashion to intercept him. This, of course, was not based on reason. It did set me to thinking about the Onondaga and the Dinwold girl. I wondered if I had been observed when walking and talking with her, and if, should I be apprehended, she would be held to account. My only consolation was that Beaujeu was a gentleman, and that once she disclosed her sex, he would not permit her to be harmed.

There remained the dangers of the retreat to Canada. Pontiac never lost an opportunity to advance himself! Once he saw that the French were whipped, I doubted his loyalty to the Lilies. Looking back to those hectic days in July, I am convinced I misjudged him. The events of the next few years were to establish his never-ending hostility to the English.

The dancers had quit the fire and war-post and were now leaping grotesquely by the window, a swift shifting string of distorted and monstrous-ly painted faces, and a bewildering flourishing of axes. Some of the axes were painted red the better to exemplify the welders' sanguinary ambitions. As the savages pressed closer to the building in passing in review, we saw them only from the neck up, and the effect was that of detached heads floating and bobbing by.

Then there came the sweetest strain of music I ever heard although it was produced by the guttural voice of a most hideously painted creature, who had concealed all suggestions of a human countenance by painting his face with a series of circles in black, red and white. His song was sweet in my ears because he sang through the open window the simple refrain:

"Ha-hum-weh. Ha-hum-weh."

"I belong to the Wolf clan. I belong to the Wolf clan."

Surely words were never more welcome. I felt the tightness in my chest give way; and I knew that Round Paw of the Onondagas was on the scene and ready to stand or fall with me. Beaujeu, too, caught the song, and remarked:

"That's not a northern voice, nor Shawnee, nor Leni-Lenape. It sounds like a Mingo, and yet it is different."

"I was not giving much heed," I said. "It sounded like an Iroquois singing his Wolf song."

Next we had a view of a Potawatomi who brandished a war-club of birch. The club was painted red and black and was decorated with brass nails. The arm holding the club boasted of a badge of skunk-skin to show the man had seized a wounded enemy by the arm and had held him. Three of the feathers in his hair were notched, evidencing he had killed and scalped as many foes, and there were other feathers unnotched, indicating he had scalped warriors slain by his companions. For after the northern fashion of counting coup four feathers could be worn for the death of each enemy slain—one by the man who made the kill, one by the man who took the scalp, and one by each of the two men who might assist in the scalping. This fellow remained before the window long enough to chant in a throaty voice:

"An eagle feather I see; a brave I have caught. A wolf I see; a wolf I have caught."

Beaujeu interpreted the song for me. I would have thought nothing about it had not the Onondaga soon passed the window again, proving he had not waited his turn, and proclaimed himself to be of the Wolf clan. And directly following him reappeared the Potawatomi with his boast of having caught a wolf. My nerves began tightening. There was a sinister significance in the second appearance of the two men. It was plain that the Potawatomi was exerting himself to keep at the heels of my friend.

There was no time to worry over the coincidence, however. I was confident the Potawatomi, even if something had aroused his suspicions, would never catch Round Paw off his guard. The dancing suddenly ceased and we noted that the framework of the medicine-lodge was up, and that the wizards were rapidly covering it with medicine-robes so as to shut off all view of the interior except as the small flap was pulled back and revealed a small, square opening facing our window.

Pontiac came through the doorway and spoke to Beaujeu. The command nodded, and explained to us:

"He says one of the Potawatomi Little Wolf, wishes to entertain us with some magic."

We settled back to enjoy the jugglery, but my nerves gave a jump when in Little Wolf I recognized the dancer who had said he had caught a wolf. He halted near the table and eyed us all steadily. I imagined his gaze rested a trifle longer on me than on the others, but set it down to my being a ranger.

Beaujeu rose and handed him a glass of wine and spoke first in the Ottawa tongue and then in French saying:

"Little Wolf is a mighty wizard. When the medicine-lodge is ready he will call the ghosts to talk to us. They will tell us how to strike an ax into the English."

Little Wolf refused the wine and glanced about until he had located the brandy. He stretched out his hand for the stronger drink and Beaujeu threw out the wine and accommodated him. Tossing off the brandy, he placed his bow and arrow on a small side-table and turned his back on us and made much business of examining the contents of the bag. When he faced about, he had a long knife in his hand. This he proceeded to swallow up to the hilt. So far as I could observe the blade went down his throat.

For Preservation of Fine Colonial Homes

More than any other city in the country, the atmosphere of the Seventeenth century is retained by the city of Annapolis. It has many landmarks and institutions of the pre-Revolutionary days, including ancient trees, structures and customs around which the romance of history has been woven. There are several particularly fine specimens of homes of that period, but the touch of modernism has threatened some of these and the movement to preserve them for all time has been inaugurated by the administrators of St. John's college, itself one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in this country. Three signers of the Declaration of Independence aided in the formation of the college and their homes, still preserved, are but a short distance from the college campus. The houses which the college proposes to preserve are the Pinkney house, the Brice house, the Hammond-Harwood house and the Peggy Steuart house. The latter was built by the owner of the vessel which caused the Peggy Steuart Tea party, which was a counterpart of the Boston Tea party.

Exactness Demanded

The joining between marble blocks in ancient Athenian structures built of blocks of marble had to be so exact that the joint must not be perceptible when the finger nail was drawn over it.

Johnson City, N. Y.—"My daughter was only 20 years old, but for two years she worked in misery. She was all run-down, nervous, had aches and pains and no appetite. I was taking Lydia E. Hiram L. Williamson, Illinois Press Association

Following Governor Emmerson's program for caring for Illinois shrines, Director Harry Cleveland of the department of public works and buildings, has authorized a thorough survey of the Lincoln monument in Springfield. It is to be made by State Architect Charles Herrick Hammond, in advance of other work of this character, in order that repairs may be made during the present season. Governor Emmerson regards the matter of primary importance, and he will undoubtedly approve the expenditure of such sum as may be required for putting the monument in good shape. Provision probably will be made for beautifying the surroundings and making the site more presentable when the masonry is pointed and the statuary cleaned. Considerable work may also be done on the state capitol which is now in the custody of Secretary of State William J. Stratton. Architect Hammond is working on plans for the addition to the state centennial building which will be used for office purposes. The addition will be five or six stories in height.

Fred W. Potter, farmer, school teacher and state superintendent of insurance during the administrations of Governors Deneen and Lowden, died in a Springfield hospital a few days ago. He was sixty-six years old. Mr. Potter entered the insurance business which he followed until 1907 when he was appointed state superintendent of insurance by Gov. Charles S. Deneen. He served about seven years and afterward was reappointed to the position by former Governor Lowden, serving until 1921.

Governor Emmerson's ballot act, providing ways and means for the submission of proposed amendments to the constitution on the general ballot, has been offered in the senate by Senator James J. Barbour, Chicago. The main bill was accompanied by other measures amending the present law, all of which will be considered at future meetings of the committee on elections.

Illinois requires 90 millions of tons of coal every year, but only 45 millions of tons are being sold in this state annually. The mines are now producing 65 millions of tons but are shipping 20 millions of tons to other states each year. If every mine in the state worked to capacity with every miner in the state at work, only 80 millions of tons could be produced, not nearly enough to fill the state's requirements. If everyone in Illinois bought Illinois coal, the coal companies would have to open more mines and hire 50,000 more miners to keep up with the Illinois demand and still send 20 millions of tons out of the state. There would be prosperity for all.

Senator Martin R. Carlson, Moline, president pro tem of the senate, was acting governor of Illinois from February 28 to March 5. During this period Governor Emmerson was in Washington attending the Presidential inaugural ceremonies and Lieut-Gov. Fred E. Sterling was expected to divide his time between Florida and Washington.

Three bills have been introduced in the senate by Senator Richard Barr, Joliet, having to do with taxation in the counties of the downstate. One of the bills authorizes county boards to extend the return date for delinquent assessments from March 1 to July 1 and the date for entering judgment from June to September. Another authorizes the governor, auditor and treasurer to fix the state tax rate before the completion of the equalization of assessments, and the third validates equalization of assessments by the state tax commission after a percentage of county returns have been received. These bills are to protect downstate from taxation troubles, which have been pointed out since the Chicago tax muddle has been before the house and senate.

Proclaimed by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, Friday, April 12, will be Arbor day and Friday, October 18, will be Bird day in Illinois. He urged residents to devote the days to planting trees and providing for the life and comfort of native birds, pointing out that flood relief and farm relief are dependent to a certain extent upon conservation of natural resources.

The name of Harry King Curtis, son of Vice President-Elect Charles Curtis of Kansas, appeared among those of the 140 attorneys who received diplomas from the Supreme court recently. The oath was administered to the class by Chief Justice Frederic R. DeYoung. Curtis will practice law in Chicago.

Illinois was represented by a committee of nine at the George Rogers Clark sesqui-centennial celebration at Vincennes, Ind., February 25. A resolution by Representative Homer Tice, Greenview, creating the committee was adopted by the house without opposition. In addition to participating in the exercises, the committee will confer with leaders regarding a Clark memorial. A short time ago a committee from Indiana waited upon the governor and urged that Illinois make a contribution to the proposed memorial.

Opposition to the three-cent gasoline tax bill has not caused its backers in the general assembly to weaken. They are standing for the bill in practically the same form that it was presented and put forth efforts to get the bill before the senate for the consideration of amendments. Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer, says that the three-cent tax will bring $21,000,000 in revenue each year for road work. Of this amount the state would receive two cents and the counties would receive one cent. The Chicago Motor club is backing a two-cent tax and has declared itself against the three-cent bill. The Illinois Municipal league favors a plan of giving a cent and a half to the state, half a cent to municipalities and one cent to counties. Chicago has suggested that fire departments be exempt from this tax and that filling stations be required to post their prices for gasoline.

Reading the Bible in the public schools is provided for in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Charles L. Wood, Kerns. The measure, which is expected to be the subject of long debate, was sent to the committee on education. The subject of reading the Bible in the schools has been under consideration for several years, and similar bills have failed.

Governor Emmerson's proposed gasoline tax law and a drivers' license bill were two important pieces of legislation affecting motorists discussed by automobile club officials of the state at their meeting in Springfield.

Governor Emmerson has announced the appointment of the board of advisers for the state reformatory for women, which is to be erected by the state soon. The members of the board are: Mrs. John T. Mason, Aurora; Mrs. William E. Lewis, Chicago; Mrs. John H. Chadwick, Tuscola; Mayor Frank Doyle, East St. Louis, and Judge Charles G. Briggie, Springfield. The board will consider a site and plans for the new reformatory with the state department of public welfare.

The month of January was the coldest since 1918, according to a report of weather in Illinois during the last month as issued by Clarence J. Root, of the United States weather bureau. Not since 1918 has there been a January so cold or since 1916 one so wet, and in the northern division the snowfall was exceeded in 1898 and 1918 only. Over the south half of the state the snowfall was generally below normal. Extremely low temperatures were confined to the northern division, but throughout the state the weather was persistently cold.

Governor Emmerson has signed his first bill of the present legislative session. The measure, offered by Representative Elmer Schnackenberg, was one which had to do with tax extensions in Chicago. It provides that the county clerk may make one extension instead of several as at present. The bill passed the house and senate with an emergency clause and becomes effective at once.

Publication of state pay rolls is provided for in a bill offered by Representative Grover Hoff, Decatur. The measure, which went to the appropriations committee, provided for a uniform voucher system and also for public inspection of pay rolls and their publication by the state auditor. A bill by Representative W. C. Chynoweth of Decatur carries an appropriation of $275,000 for the erection of an armory at Decatur.

Dr. A. R. Crook, chief of the Illinois State museum, has been appointed by the council of the American association for the advancement of science as a member of a committee of five to consider the matter of calendar reform and to draft a resolution on the subject for the association. Doctor Crook has long been working for the simplification of the Georgian calendar.

Bills empowering school boards to issue anticipation warrants have been introduced by Representatives T. J. Sullivan, Springfield, and G. J. Johnson, Paxton. A tax of $500 is imposed on chain stores in a measure introduced by Representative Grover Hoff, Decatur. Similar bills are now awaiting action. Representative William Thon, Chicago, desires an appropriation of $1,000 for the expenses of a commission to attend the dedication of Illinois monuments at Memphis.

Three million dollars for flood relief in the Illinois river valley is provided for in a bill offered in the house by Representative Teel, Rushville. The measure, which went to the appropriations committee, is the outgrowth of an investigation of river conditions by a special commission. A similar bill is expected to be offered in the senate by Senator A. S. Cuthbertson, chairman of the commission. A public hearing on the proposition may be held soon.

A falling birth rate that reached its lowest level in the history of the state last year, coupled with a slight rise in mortality, due partly to the influenza epidemic, cut down the net increase in population from natural sources to only 39,474, scarcely one-half of 1 per cent. This fact was disclosed in statistics made public recently by Dr. Thomas H. Leonard, acting state health director, who pointed out that the 129,668 births and the 90,194 deaths recorded during 1928 gave rates of 17.53 and 12.2 per 1,000 respectively.

Roman Dikes

The dikes which protect the Netherlands from the North sea in many cases go back to Roman times. Many are raised as much as 40 feet above high-water mark and are wide enough at the top for a general roadway or canal. They are made of earth protected by stone slopes and by piles and at the more dangerous points by artificial structures of brushwood, laden with stones. The West Kapelle dike is 12,468 feet long and has a seaward slope of 300 feet. On a ridge 39 feet wide are a roadway and a railway.

Quart of Water Cleans Kidneys

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

Paper Money Wears Out in Short Time

The life of a dollar bill is much shorter than it was a few years ago, and the difference is said to be due to its frequent passage through the hands of the individuals at the roadside filling station. This was determined by government officials, by circulating 50 $1 bills, with a request attached that each spender indorse on the slip what he spent it for, and that the person holding the bill after the tenth indorsement should return it to the American Motorists' association headquarters at Washington. The 50 bills were circulated in 10 cities with the result that out of 36 bills returned containing 371 indorsements, 53 of the indorsements indicated that the bill had been spent by a motorist for gas or oil. The size of the new bills about to be issued will tend to lengthen their life and also the fact that the paper used will be oil proof to a certain extent.

Facts About the Telephone

Twenty years ago there were about 6,500,000 telephones in the United States. Today there are over 19,000,000.

The city of Chicago recently opened its first dial telephone office in a residential area, the new office bearing the prefix of Long-beach.

The total number of public telephone pay stations in England on March 30, 1928, was 24,054, according to the British Postmaster General.

The total number of telephones in the British Post Office telephone system on June 30, 1928 was 1,662,201.

For the year 1928 the average number of telephone conversations completed daily in the United States was about 75,000,000.

Eight of the twelve largest cities in the world are now interconnected by telephone. These cities are New York, London, Berlin, Chicago, Paris, Philadelphia, Vienna and Detroit.

It is estimated that during 1928, the telephone companies comprising the Bell System will spend an average of more than $800 a minute for new construction and for replacement of existing plant.

It is reported that the first telephone conversation has recently taken place between Egypt and Transjordan. The line runs from Amman, in Transjordan, to Cairo, crossing Palestine and passing through thousands of miles of desert.

ABOVE THE ARCTIC CIRCLE

A telephone service has been opened with Upper Lapland, 100 miles north of the Arctic Circle. The line extends from Geneva to Kiruna and consists of 2,530 miles of double wire which includes 1,125 miles of underground cable between Geneva and the Baltic Coast at Stralsund, 100 miles of submarine cable between Stralsund and Malmo and 1,305 miles of overhead wire between Malmo and Kiruna.

ROOMY COMFORT

Every man appreciates a comfortably fitting, roomy shirt; and a snug robe is one of his prime necessities. The models shown above leave nothing to be desired in fulfilling these masculine requirements and will enable the wife or mother to keep goodly supplies on hand with little trouble and small expense. The style features of the robe are the smart shawl collar, two patch pockets and an inserted pocket. The robe may be made of flannel, woolen or of silk, according to the tastes of the man for whom it is made.

The negligee shirt shown is easy to make by virtue of its square yoke in back, below which are gathers. This insures a good fit. The collar is detachable so the model may be made in heavy madras for sports or in fine silks for more dressy uses.

At night the action of the pump was heard so loudly that the noise kept many folks awake. Alderman August Hentsch has overcome the difficulty by installing two valves in the pump chamber.

Since the new valves have been installed the sound of the pump working has been eliminated.

Evening Worship 7:00 P. M.

The pastor will preach next Sunday at the usual hour.

Plans are being made that we shall again enjoy an early morning service on Easter Sunday. All who attended the service at 7:30 a. m. last year, thought it most worthwhile and many have looked forward to another such time.

This will be the first service with the new pastor in full charge. There will be more announcements later. There is a possibility that there will be a week of pre-Easter meetings, or perhaps a half-week. Definite announcement will be made within a week or so. You will not wish to miss a service of those special meetings.

In Memoriam

STRASSENBURG FERDINAND—In fond remembrance of our beloved husband and father who passed away two years ago today, March 2, 1927.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness
This world can never fill.

Thank God for the faith that teaches
When the struggles of life are o'er
We shall meet our own dear father,
Where the parting is no more.

—Mrs. Ernestina Strassenburg and Children.

About two weeks ago an item appeared in this column stating that Miss Marie Horras was attending the St. Clara School in Cincinnati, Iowa. This should have read "she is attending the St. Clara's Academy at Sinsinawa, Wisconsin." This academy is rated as being one of the finest in the central part of the country. Marie is enjoying her studies and is heading her classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hirsch, Chas. Hirsch, Lawrence Kohl, and Mrs. J. V. Hall attended the Farm Bureau Banquet and meeting held Saturday in the Joliet Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Evelyn Barnes who has been ill with tonsillitis is getting better. Miss Lucile Fisher entertained a number of her school mates at a party in her home Saturday in honor of her birthday.

SEEK TELEPHONE BUYERS FOR AUCTION IN LONDON

A few years ago an advertisement of an English firm of auctioneers, advertising an auction the next week in London, might seem out of place in an American newspaper, but so epochal have been the changes in the field of communications in the last two years that such a firm now finds it worth while to advertise extensively in the United States and to insert both its telephone and telegraph addresses.

A recent issue of a New York paper contained a three column advertisement of a London auction sale this summer at which the famous hunting carpet, known as the Emperor's Carpet, was advertised for sale.

How to Construct Model Planes

By Carlos Hall

The first step of course is getting the blanks ready. With these the cutting is started. Use the knife to carve the blades down to about 1-8 of an inch thick, then take the No. 1-2 sandpaper and finish it down to about 3-32, with the fine sand off so that it tapers from 3-32 at the hub to 1-32 at the tips. To strengthen a prop of this kind it can be doped with banana oil. Put on one coat, let it dry and sand smooth. Apply a second and maybe a third coat. Before doping, however, it should be made to balance on its shaft in any position. Use sandpaper to take off surplus wood.

There are many styles of motor sticks including the solid balsa, I beams, U beams, built up with two sides, box type, etc. Each has certain advantages but the ordinary solid balsa is by far the simpler while being very efficient.

Now there are some builders who can construct very accurate models and yet can't fly them properly. All indoor models should be launched with a slight toss after the propeller has attained its maximum speed. The outdoor models should be launched downwind with a gentle shove on an even keel.

Ordinarily it is not advisable to fly models in a very strong wind. But this can be done with some practice in launching.

In this article I have not even tried to cover all the points and therefore I make this offer. If any one has any questions to ask as to any phase of model making, just write me at Mokena, Illinois, and I will be glad to answer your questions. Now let us build some good models, and make some records.

PLAN TELEPHONE SYSTEM FOR ALL SOUTH AMERICA

Uruguay, Argentina and Chile
Linked by Newly Opened
Long Distance Lines

The first important step in equipping the South American continent with a modern Long Distance telephone system has been taken through the linking up by telephone of three South American countries, Uruguay, Argentina and Chile. Ultimately, it is expected that the different countries of South America will all be joined by telephone through a network of communications that will also make possible telephone communication with the United States and later with Europe.

The first communication between South American countries took place between Santiago, Chile, and Buenos Aires, Argentina. This circuit is the longest ever established in South America. This new line runs first under the waters of the Rio de la Plata, then crosses fertile plains of Argentina and before reaching Chile, climbs the snow-capped Andes. In addition, two circuits have been installed between Montevideo and Buenos Aires, so that the capitals of three of the most important countries in South America are now joined by telephone. The distance from Montevideo to Santiago is 1,031 miles.

In crossing the Andes, about midway from Las Vacas on the eastern slope to Rio Blanco on the western side, this South American transcontinental telephone line reaches a height of over 12,500 feet, one of the greatest heights ever reached by any telephone circuit in any part of the world. There is situated the tiny hamlet of Las Cuevas. To protect the circuit from the heavy snowstorms and particularly the snow avalanches that occur on both the eastern and western slopes, it was necessary to construct subterranean cables.

It is expected that this new line will help to cement the friendly relations between Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.

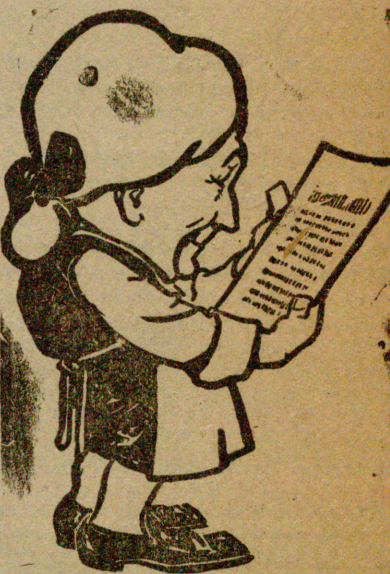

TELEPHONE AND PLANE SAVE TETANUS VICTIM

Because Block Island is connected by telephone with the mainland, the life of eight year old Herbert Thomas was saved recently when the boy cut his foot while bathing. Lock-jaw set in and it was decided that anti-tetanus serum was the only thing that would save the boy.

A telephone message had been sent to the State laboratories in Providence for the precious serum. A Providence Journal reporter on learning of the situation, secured the airplane and hastened to the scene with his valuable package. Within three days after the application of the serum the doctors were able to announce that the boy was out of danger.

THE POPE HAS TELEPHONES

Four telephones have been installed in the private apartments of the Pope as part of a new internal telephone system in the Apostolic Palace. There are now just one hundred lines on the switchboard of the Vatican telephone plant, and of these, only three connect with the outside world, but two more lines are soon to be added.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

LESSON TEXT—Eph. 1:22, 23:4-6, 11-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—So we, who are many, are one body in Christ.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Serving God in Our Church.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Serving God in Our Church.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Meaning of Church Membership.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Nature and Function of the Christian Church.

I. What It Is.

It is the body of redeemed men and women, Jews and Gentiles, called out from the world, regenerated and united to Jesus Christ as head, and to each other by the Holy Spirit.

1. It was unknown in the Old Testament time (Eph. 3:5, 6).

There were saved people in that time, but people occupying the peculiar position as members of Christ's

Robert Stephen and daughter garet attended the postoffice employees banquet and dance in the Walker Hotel, Joliet, day evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koh were hosts to the Bridge C and their home Friday evening.

Mrs. Mary Eisenbrandt who went on operation last Wedn is improving nicely.

Mrs. Minnie Pink was sui last Tuesday evening by relative friends. Cards were played a tables. Prizes were awarded a lows: first ladies, Mrs. Frank Cl second, Mrs. Henry Damann; first, George Mills; second Har land. Supper was served at mic

Lois Baumgartner entertain "W. H. M." Club at her home day evening. Bunco and games played. Prizes were awarded a cile LaHue, Eva Jean Pfaff. F at the coming of the Lord.

4. One Lord.

The one ruler of the church is Christ Himself (v. 5).

5. One faith.

Those who are under the control of the one Lord will more and more come into the unity of doctrinal beliefs.

6. One baptism (v. 5).

This is the baptism of the Holy Spirit, which is that sovereign act of the Spirit which unites believers to Jesus Christ as head and to each other as members of His body.

7. One God and Father of all.

He is the Creator and sustainer of the universe.

IV. The Ministry of the Church. (Eph. 4:11-16).

1. The ministry of certain officials (v. 11).

Gifts were bestowed upon the church for its growth.

(1) Apostles. These were appointed by Christ to superintend the preaching of the gospel in all the world, and to create an authoritative body of teaching.

(2) Prophets. These ministers were given for the expounding of the Scriptures, the body of authoritative teaching (1 Cor. 14:3).

(3) Evangelists. These seem to have been traveling missionaries to gather in the members constituting the body of Christ.

(4) Pastors and teachers. The pastor was a shepherd and teacher—two functions inherent in the one office.

2. Object of the ministry of the church (v. 12).

(1) "Perfecting of the saints."

Here is meant the mending of that which had been rent—the adjusting of something dislocated.

(2) "For the work of the ministry" (v. 12).

The perfecting of the saints has as its object their qualification to render a spiritual service.

(3) Edifying of the body of Christ. Edify means to build up the church, the body of Christ.

3. The duration of the church's ministry (v. 13).

This ministry to continue till:

(1) We come into the unity of the faith.

(2) Till we come into the knowledge of the Son of God.

(3) A perfect man, which is the measure of the stature of Christ.

4. The blessed issue of the ministry of the church (vv. 14-16).

(1) Not tossed to and fro and carried about by every wind of doctrine

(2) Speaking the truth in love.

Already Existing

The Christian ideal, when once it is clearly apprehended, becomes already existent.—The Times (London).

The Praise of Men

Among the chief rulers also many believed on Him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess Him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue; for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.—John 12:42, 43.

When God Is Closest

God is closest to earth when His dwelling place is a consecrated human heart, a dedicated human intellect.—E. W. Donald.

CANDY A FOOD ACCESSORY

The convenience of using such prepared foods as candy in desserts, makes this a particularly helpful addition to the emergency shelf.

Hard candies like peanut brittle and peppermint can be chopped or mashed.

Candy bar with its delicious mixture of caramel, chocolate and nuts or other ingredients, is best shaved and added to the recipe.

Marshmallows, slightly melted or fresh, add a pleasing texture to a dish, as well as flavor and sweetness.

Peanut brittle chopped or mashed, folded into whipped cream is a good topping for angel food or, added to boiled frosting, a good topping for cookies.

Added to whipped cream and frozen it is attractive in a mousse.

Caramel placed in the bottom of a custard cup before adding the custard will make a delicious sauce when it is turned out.

Peppermint Stick Ice Cream.—Take one-half pound of peppermint sticks, one quart of medium cream, one pint of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt.

Soak the candy over night. Add the cream, salt and sugar if you want it, and freeze.

Scalloped Apples With Peanut Brittle.—Spread thinly sliced apples over the bottom of a baking dish.

Sprinkle with salt, place a layer of peanut brittle on top, repeat until all the apples (six large ones) and three-fourths of a pound of peanut brittle is used.

Pour over four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice on the last layer of apples before adding the last layer of brittle.

Candy Bar Cottage Pudding.—Cut squares of cake or use cup cakes.

Cover with very thin slices of candy bar. Pour hot custard or lemon juice over it.

The need for sweets for children has always been recognized and advocated by most physicians.

Suitable provision should be made for sweets for growing children, but they should be given with or immediately after the meal.

The child fond of candy will demand it at any time, so it is much better to regulate the amount and the proper time for eating it, rather than leaving it to the appetite of the child.

Candy as a dessert is no new thing, and many mothers find it an excellent compromise in the menu for candy-loving children.

Food for the Family.

When you wish to serve something very choice for your family and friends prepare:

Almond Soup.—Take a cupful of blanched and ground almonds, pound them in a mortar until they are a smooth paste, adding a drop of milk to moisten. Scald a quart of milk, add the almonds and a tablespoonful of butter seasoning and flour well blended for a binding.

Cook until very hot, serve in bouillon cups with a spoonful of whipped cream on top. Garnish with finely shredded almonds and serve with croutons.

To prepare them butter half-inch slices of bread and cut into half-inch squares; brown in the oven, stirring until well browned all over.

Veal Birds.—Take meaty slices of veal, cut into strips two by four inches, spread with any desired stuffing, using chopped salt pork, some of the veal left from the trimming, bread crumbs, seasoning and nuts if desired.

Roll up the veal strips, skewer with toothpicks and place in a baking pan with enough thin cream to partly cover. Roast, basting occasionally until the veal is well browned. Thicken the cream, adding more if needed to make a gravy to serve around the birds.

Benares Salad.—Chop fine one Bermuda onion, add two finely diced apples, one small finely shredded pimento, and one cupful of fresh grated coconut. Blend well and serve on lettuce with a simple French dressing.

Parsnip Fritters.—Cook and mash a cupful or more of parsnips. Prepare a fritter batter. Mold a tablespoonful of the seasoned parsnip and dip into the batter, fry in deep fat and serve with a sauce from a can of pineapple.

Fig Dessert.—Steam large pulled figs, slit the side and fill with a nicely seasoned cream cheese to which a few chopped nuts have been added. Press in the original shape, chill and serve on a dolly covered plate with crackers and coffee.

The proper choosing of food, its manner of cooking and serving, is no small matter in the success of an individual. Who knows what heights have been reached by the well nourished and healthy men and what crimes have been committed because of undernourishment, suffering or improperly fed people have given up the fight.

Many a small man has a large heart—and vice versa.

Actors Resent Caricatures

French actors who take themselves too seriously are aroused over their caricatures being given by Rap, a Parisian revue artist, who is creating quite a furor by his mimicry of the personalities of the hour in Paris. Mistinguette, the idol of the dancing world, had a bad time of it when she recently visited the theater to see a cartoon of herself on the stage. When she was leaving the box office, it is said, the manager asked her if she would like to meet Rap, and she exclaimed, "Oh, No! No!" and hurried from the theater.

Young Lady's Elbows No Longer A Hat Rack

"I just couldn't resist any longer telling you of your wonderful medicine, Milks Emulsion. I have been constipated as long as I can remember. Had typhoid fever when I was eight years old and since then my bowels haven't moved freely. Doctors have given me bowel medicine and I have taken pills, salts, castor oil, and everything a person could think of. They didn't do me any good whatever.

"Now, whenever I hear anyone say they are constipated, I immediately tell them of Milks Emulsion. I have taken about 12 large bottles, not all of them regular. Now I keep Milks Emulsion in the house and take it regular. I have taken so much medicine that I thought it was all alike.

"I had a sallow complexion, no color, and felt miserable all the time; but now I have the color of health, and health is something I wouldn't exchange with anyone for a fortune. I wouldn't take ten times the price I paid for Milks Emulsion for the results I have obtained.

"I am 19 years old and weigh 105 pounds. Have gained 5 pounds since taking your medicine and am still gaining. My face is round and my arms are getting round. Before, people used to hang their hats on my elbows, thinking they were hatracks. Now I am going to keep on with Milks Emulsion until I weigh 125 pounds.

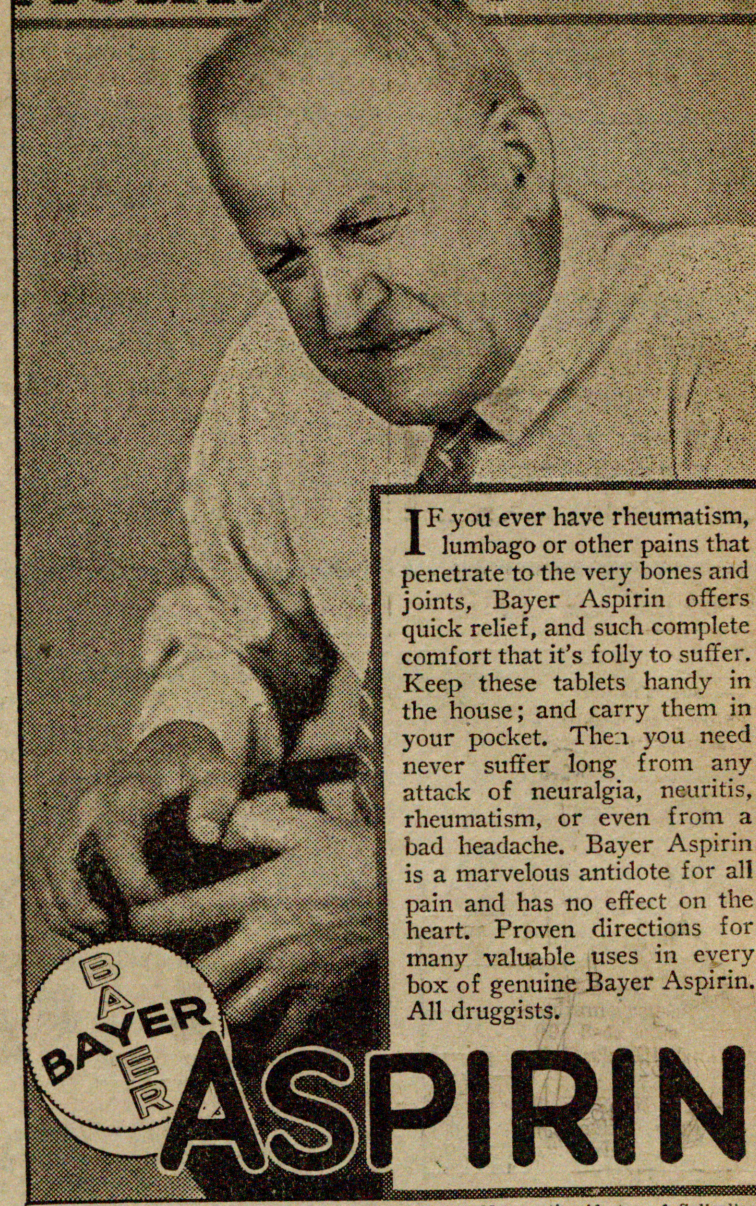

"I mentioned your Emulsion to two doctors. They both admitted it was good, and no one knows better than I that it is not only good, but wonderful.

"You may publish this letter if you wish and anyone that wants to ask me about your medicine may do so. I promise to answer every letter. In fact, I couldn't do enough for Milks Emulsion to repay them for what their medicine has done for me. I remain, very respectfully yours, ROSEMOND BOWEN, Frontenac, Kan."

Cryptic Enough

Educated Egyptian—You have no wonderful hieroglyphics in America, no mysterious inscriptions, no indecipherable relics of an ancient literature whose secrets the wise men have tried in vain to discover.

American Tourist (humbly) —No, we haven't any of those things, I admit. But (brightening up) we have our railroad timetables.

Not Qualified

"Admiral, there is talk of making you an honorary general."

"Please don't. I get seasick on a horse."

Everything waits for those who come.

Salmon in Millions

In some Alaskan streams salmon have at times appeared in such massed numbers as to make it seem that the channel was almost solidly filled with fish. This, however, occurs only during brief periods at the height of the annual runs or migrations of adult salmon from the sea to streams for spawning purposes.

On the Contrary

Miss Leftover—Don't you think Billy Billings' prickly little mustache looks perfectly horrid?

Cora Coalington—Not at all. In fact, whenever I see it I get quite stuck on it.

Caps the climax—the high-hatter.

OPERATOR SAVES TOWN IN FOREST FIRE'S PATH

Timely Warnings From Switchboard Bring Help to Endangered California Village

The little town of Raymond, Cal., existent since the early gold-mining days, has had many experiences, but never one such as it passed through last summer. At about 10 o'clock one morning, Miss Pauline Probasco, telephone operator, answered an excited subscriber's signal and was informed that a brush and forest fire had broken out a few miles away and that help was urgently needed. Realizing the dry and parched condition of the foliage and the imminent danger, not only to the surrounding country but to the town of Raymond which lay directly in the pathway of the flames, she began telephoning the news of the fire to the leading men of the community, urging them to rush to the aid of the town. While families were frantically moving their movable household effects into automobiles and trucks, the telephone operator stuck to her post, although by then she was scarcely able to see her switchboard, owing to the dense smoke.

She remained at the post while the flames crept nearer and nearer until they were within a few hundred feet of the telephone office, when the wind suddenly died down and the danger was soon passed. Through her bravery, however, in sticking to her post and helping direct the fire fighters in their efforts as the flames broke out in various sections, the town of Raymond was saved.

P. T. A. MEETS

The Parent-Teachers Association of Mokena held its monthly business meeting on Feb. 26th. N. F. Heiman who was president last year, presided in the absence of the president, John Balaz, and the first and second vice-presidents, Mrs. Rose Moriarty and Miss Clara Goetz. Mr. Balaz was detained in Chicago on business. Mrs. Moriarty is in California, and Miss Goetz was ill. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Communications were read, one of which pertained to stage equipment for the new school.

On account of bad weather only eleven members were present. No meeting was held in January because of weather conditions. It is to be hoped that with the spring almost at hand better weather may be had, and with it a proportional better attendance of the P. T. A.

History of Orland P. T. A.

Following is a history of the Orland Park P. T. A., as read before the Association's birthday, Feb. 14:

With the young and the old, the civilized peoples, the barbarians, the savages, the people of the frozen north and the inhabitants of the equatorial regions, birthday anniversaries are looked forward to with anticipatory feelings of pleasure, as being the time when the work or the pleasure, or the gain which has accrued during the past year can be reckoned up and a trial balance of accomplishments or failures be reached.

The Orland Park Parent-Teachers Association has reached its first milestone and it is with considerable pleasure that its officers and members can look back upon the year of accomplishment, of social enjoyment and of civic good.

Tonight marks the last meeting of the first year of existence of the Association and therefore a short resume of the activities of the year just is not out of order.

The need for such an organization as the P. T. A. had been recognized by the Board of School Directors for some time past and plans had been made to bring this movement to a head. However, another civic organization, the Lions Club of Orland Park, working independently of this first movement but with the same end in view, called a meeting of the Parents and Teachers of Orland Park at the School Auditorium on March 29, 1928. The Rev. Paul T. Sanders acted as chairman of the meeting and Mrs. H. Adele Cooper as secretary.

Mrs. W. A. Hopkins of Oak Lawn, representing the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers was the guest and speaker of the evening and explained the aims and the purposes of the P. T. A. and gave an outline of the requirements and methods of organization. At the close of Mrs. Hopkins talk the process of organization went forward rapidly and before the close of the meeting the Orland Park P. T. A. was an accomplished fact. Mrs. H. Adele Cooper was elected president, Mrs. Louis Arnold, Jr., vice-president. Mrs. G. Cox, secretary and Mrs. Sherman Knox, treasurer. By-laws were adopted and committees were appointed and the 21 members listed below signed the application for Charter:

Mrs. H. Adele Cooper, Chas. Mullen, John Schmadeke, Everett Carder, Thos. Davidson, Thos. Wheeler, Earl Reisch, Sherman Knox, Louis Arnold, Jr., Edward Rust, Ben Hutchinson, John Klein, Ellen Mitchell, George Cox, H. B. Heiting, Messrs. John Schmadeke, Thos.
